Hanjin resumes $2-B shipyard plan in Misamis

MANILA, Dec. 1 — Hanjin Heavy Industries & Construction Co. has resumed its plan to build a $2-billion shipyard in Misamis Oriental, Mindanao, after a long hiatus. The company, which had previously announced the plan, said it had secured the necessary permits and is now in the final stages of construction. The shipyard is expected to be completed by 2012 and will have the capacity to build up to 100 ships per year. Hanjin is a South Korean company and is one of the largest shipbuilders in the world. The shipyard will be a major investment in the region and is expected to create thousands of jobs. The company also plans to build a large container terminal and a dry-dock facility. The shipyard is located in a strategic area and is expected to become a major hub for shipbuilding in the Philippines.

CarSur From 49th to 10th richest province

MANILA, Dec. 1 — The CarSur index, a measure of the wealth of provinces in the Philippines, has moved from 49th to 10th place. This is a significant improvement and is attributed to the province's strong economic growth and infrastructure development. The CarSur index is based on various factors, including the province's gross regional product, infrastructure, and social services. The province's strong performance in these areas has led to its rise in the index. This improvement is a testament to the province's economic resilience and its ability to attract investment and foster growth.

The 7th Annual Edogawa Matsuri, now in its 7th year, is a celebration of the rich cultural heritage of the Japanese community in the Philippines. It features a variety of traditional Japanese food, music, and dance performances. The event is a great opportunity for the community to come together and celebrate their shared heritage.

ADDRESS THE FINANCIAL CRISIS NO TO CHACHA

5 October 2008

A group of members of the Philippine Management Association (PMA) has issued a statement calling on President Arroyo to address the financial crisis by focusing on the economy rather than on the controversial Cha-cha initiative. The statement, signed by PMA President and Chairman of the Board, Mr. [Name], and other members, reads: "We, the undersigned, are deeply concerned about the current state of the Philippine economy. We believe that the government should focus on addressing the financial crisis by implementing sound economic policies and reforms, rather than on the controversial Cha-cha initiative. We urge the President to take immediate action to address the financial crisis and to ensure the stability of the Philippine economy."

Any measure that will help the country to overcome the current financial crisis is a welcome move. The government should focus on addressing the financial crisis by implementing sound economic policies and reforms, rather than on the controversial Cha-cha initiative. We urge the President to take immediate action to address the financial crisis and to ensure the stability of the Philippine economy.

The statement is the most important document of our nation. It is the responsibility of the government to ensure the stability of the Philippine economy. We believe that the government should focus on addressing the financial crisis by implementing sound economic policies and reforms, rather than on the controversial Cha-cha initiative. We urge the President to take immediate action to address the financial crisis and to ensure the stability of the Philippine economy.

President Arroyo has been accused of mismanagement and corruption. We believe that the government should focus on addressing the financial crisis by implementing sound economic policies and reforms, rather than on the controversial Cha-cha initiative. We urge the President to take immediate action to address the financial crisis and to ensure the stability of the Philippine economy.

The government's policy of Cha-cha is a failure. We believe that the government should focus on addressing the financial crisis by implementing sound economic policies and reforms, rather than on the controversial Cha-cha initiative. We urge the President to take immediate action to address the financial crisis and to ensure the stability of the Philippine economy.

The government's policy of Cha-cha is a failure. We believe that the government should focus on addressing the financial crisis by implementing sound economic policies and reforms, rather than on the controversial Cha-cha initiative. ## Crisis dampens interest in housing loans

By Steve C. Boudon

THE PHILIPPINE HOUSING LOAN MARKET HAS BEEN DAMPENED BY THE CRISIS IN THE FINANCIAL SECTOR, ACCORDING TO AN ANALYSIS BY THE PHILIPPINE HOUSING LOAN MARKET.

The analysis, which was conducted by the Philippine Housing Loan Market, found that the crisis in the financial sector has led to a significant decrease in the number of housing loans being issued.

The analysis also found that the crisis has led to a significant increase in the interest rates on housing loans, which has further dampened interest in the market.

The analysis concludes that the crisis in the financial sector has had a significant negative impact on the housing loan market, and that the market is likely to remain dampened for some time.

OFWs are still leaving for Taiwan despite the fact that the Taiwanese government has cut the number of work visa quotas for Filipinos. This is because many OFWs are still looking for better job opportunities in Taiwan, despite the fact that the Taiwanese government has cut the number of work visa quotas for Filipinos.

The analysis also found that the crisis in the financial sector has led to a significant decrease in the number of housing loans being issued, which has further dampened interest in the market.

China, US join forces as world recession looms

Priority is to restore waning confidence

WASHINGTON — The United States and China are joining forces to combat the global economic downturn, with the two nations agreeing to coordinate their efforts to restore confidence in the world economy. The two countries are also working to address the growing trade deficit between them, with the US seeking to increase its exports to China and China seeking to increase its exports to the US.

US automakers plead for rescue

WASHINGTON — The US automotive industry is pleading for a rescue from the federal government as it faces a crisis of confidence. The industry is facing a sharp decline in sales and is struggling to meet its financial obligations. The federal government is considering a bailout of the industry, but the industry is asking for more than just a bailout. It is asking for a complete restructuring of the industry, including the creation of a new regulatory body to oversee the industry and the implementation of new standards for safety and emissions.

Food and immune boosters

By James H. Johnson
WASHINGTON — A new study has found that a diet rich in fruits and vegetables can help boost the immune system and reduce the risk of chronic diseases. The study found that people who ate a diet rich in fruits and vegetables had a lower risk of developing heart disease, cancer, and other chronic diseases. The study also found that a diet rich in fruits and vegetables can help boost the immune system, which is the body's defense against infection and disease. The study was conducted by researchers at the National Cancer Institute and the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute.

Go easy on biofuels, Platts says

Crude prices estimated to drop to $35 a barrel by Q. 3 2009

By Stephen L. Goss

Crude oil prices are expected to fall to $35 a barrel by the third quarter of 2009, according to a report from Platts, a leading energy market research firm. The report, which is part of a series of forecasts, says that the price of oil will fall to $35 a barrel by the third quarter of 2009, down from $70 a barrel in the third quarter of 2008. The report also says that the price of natural gas will fall to $3.50 per million Btu by the third quarter of 2009, down from $6.50 per million Btu in the third quarter of 2008. The report is based on a number of factors, including a global economic slowdown, a decline in demand for oil, and a decline in the price of oil. The report also says that the price of oil will fall to $35 a barrel by the third quarter of 2009, down from $70 a barrel in the third quarter of 2008.

DOD rejects plea to exempt U.S. from meeting tax

By Michael J. Hayes

The Department of Defense has rejected a plea from the American Petroleum Institute to exempt the United States from meeting a tax on oil. The tax is a 10% tax on the value of oil, which is a significant source of revenue for the federal government. The American Petroleum Institute, which represents the oil industry, has argued that the tax is unfair and that it will hurt the economy. The Department of Defense, however, has argued that the tax is a necessary source of revenue for the federal government and that it will not hurt the economy. The Department of Defense has also argued that the tax is a necessary source of revenue for the federal government and that it will not hurt the economy.

The Department of Defense has also argued that the tax is a necessary source of revenue for the federal government and that it will not hurt the economy.

Business model key to market success, beating competition, profitability

THEir business model is the key to their success. It's the blueprint for how they will make money, and it's the foundation of their competitive advantage. A strong business model is essential for any company looking to succeed in a crowded market.

Business models are the foundation of a company's success. They define how a company creates, delivers, and captures value. A well-defined business model is essential for a company to compete effectively in the market.

MONITORING
the market is essential for a company to stay ahead of the competition. Regular monitoring allows a company to identify trends, opportunities, and threats in a timely manner.

Economic challenges have driven the number of small businesses to a historic low. Many are struggling to stay afloat in a market that is shrinking and becoming more competitive.

A recent survey of small business owners found that 60% of respondents reported a decline in sales over the past six months. This is a significant challenge for many small businesses, which often lack the resources to weather such downturns.

Oh, the urge to nip and tuck

As the holiday season approaches, many women are feeling the urge to nip and tuck. The pressure to look perfect for the holidays is a common theme. Many women are turning to cosmetic surgery to achieve the look they desire. The most common procedures are liposuction, tummy tucks, and breast lifts. These procedures can help women feel more confident and comfortable in their own skin. However, it's important to consult with a qualified plastic surgeon before undergoing any procedure. The surgeon can assess your individual needs and recommend the best course of action. Recovery time can vary, so it's important to plan accordingly. The cost of these procedures can be significant, so it's important to do your research and understand the financial implications. Despite the risks and costs, many women find the results worth the investment. The holidays are a time of celebration and joy, and feeling confident can make a big difference. If you're considering cosmetic surgery, take the time to research and consult with a professional. You deserve to feel your best.

Last-minute Xmas shopping, from Greenhills to Alabang

By John Ramirez

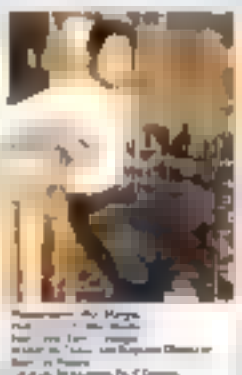

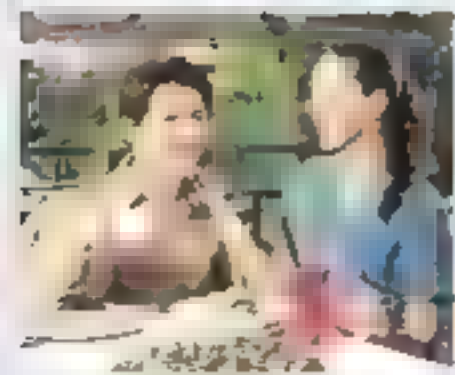

When it comes to Christmas shopping, there's nothing more stressful than last-minute shopping. It's the time when you're scrambling to find the perfect gift for the people you love, and the pressure is on.

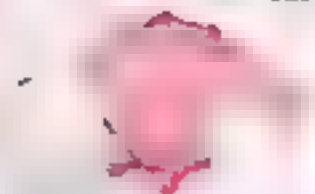

Of course, the shopping is not the only stressor. The holiday season is also a time of family gatherings, and that can be a source of tension as well.

And hate to see the last-minute shoppers who are still in the market for the perfect gift. It's a stressful time for everyone involved.

It's the time when you're scrambling to find the perfect gift for the people you love, and the pressure is on.
